

TWO KINDS  ANNIVERSARY

REFLECTIONS

That night, long ago...

Alright, that should be enough to last for now.

Oh, hey!

You're still up. I didn't wake you, did I? I just left to gather more firewood.

No. I've been awake.

Oh... okay.

So, um... since we're both still up, there's something I wanted to ask you earlier, but... I wasn't sure if it'd be rude to do so.

That guy from before called you a "Keidran."

Is that the name of your... species?

...Do you really not know? This isn't some elaborate trick or something? Playing dumb to bring me back?

What? No, no!

I'm not trying to "bring you back" anywhere. I was just curious.

All I know for sure about Keidran so far is that they have orange fur and stripes.

What? We don't all have... wow, you don't know much, do you?

Taadaa!

Hey! It's the shirt I woke up in! I didn't even know we still had it.

Where did it come from?

I found it crumpled up at the bottom of your old backpack.

SNIFF
SNIFF

Urg... certainly smells like it's been stuck down there all this time, too.

Say, how come you stopped wearing it?

What, you mean other than that big Templar emblem right on the front?

Well, have you seen the back yet?

...Oh.

The victim of one too many of your pounces, if I recall.

Right... sorry. I really need to be more careful with my claws.

I've been thinking about what you guys have been telling me.

About letting... certain things go.

So I brought up this.

Ooo! It's the bucket helmet!

What were you going to do with that?

If you must know, I was planning on dropping it into the ocean.

You...

...what?!

Nrrr@aaoh!

SNATCH!

You can't just throw away Ol' Buckety!

Flora, do you even know why I wore that thing in the first place?

I wore it out of obligation, not choice.

The armor was my father's.

It was a condition of my banishment - to keep it with me, so that I would always remember what I'd done.

It worked. Every night, I would look into my helmet and see myself, alone. It was a constant reminder of what my father had done, and how I could never truly be rid of him.

I spent my life hating that man for what he'd done.

And now it turns out, my father was never the monster I thought he was.

He may not have shown me any love, but he loved my mother.

And I killed him.

Either way, I don't deserve to wear this helmet anymore!

<But I get what you're saying.
I appreciate that you didn't take my head off way back then.>

<Yeah, well, at the time I would have been more than happy to do so.
It wasn't exactly my intention to spare you.>

<But yeah, like I said, I'm... certainly glad that didn't happen.

If I had known at the time that you were...

I mean...

I never imagined that one day I'd...

Um... well, you see... I really like having you around... a-as a good friend, and... stuff, so l-->

BRUSH!

Eep!

<It's okay, Natani.>

<I know.
And...>

<Maybe you're right about this thing.>

Yeah, Keith, he's right!

Besides, think of all the good times we've had with Ol' Buckety!

Oh no...

Like that one time,
when I stole all your clothes
while you were bathing...

...and then sent them
floating down the river as payback for attacking me that one time!

I knew I never should have trusted a bloody Keidran!
I'll get you for this, Flora!

That wasn't funny at all!

It took me nearly half an hour before
I got them back!

They went over a waterfall!

Hey, wait. Since we're all sharing... There's something I've always wanted to ask you, Trace.

Hm? Me? Sure, what?

What's the deal with that blue triangle you have on your face?

Is it some kind of Templar tattoo? Birthmark? A magic seal, maybe?

What blue triangle?

